

SAINT MICHAEL VISION PRIVATE SCHOOL

Imagine an education system whereby children are taught that the only time we should look down on someone is if we can help them up. Imagine a system of education where children are taught to judge beauty by what is within people's heart not by their physical appearance. Imagine

A system where character is given as much importance as competence. Where children are taught that helping a billion people is even more valuable than being a billionaire. Where as well as learning to raise their standard of living they are also taught to increase their standard of giving. Where children are taught to measure their success by how happy and fulfilled they are and not how many letters they have after their names. An education system where developing intelligence goes hand in hand with developing compassion. Imagine if as well as learning the history of our world they are given the skills to change the future of it. Imagine if as well as learning to navigate the world, they learn how to navigate their own minds. This is not an imagination. It is possible if we genuinely begin to value kindness over competence, character over success and integrity above money. And in this way change the system in which our children grow and learn.
